A virtual Web3 Hackathon!

<Start Hacking! />

Section 2

Zer0 Code Hack-a-thon

Codeless Conduct is a virtual hackathon held in the world of Web3, where all the Web3 enthusiasts can dive deep in and learn, create and get to know about the latest technologies, tools and platforms that are emerging and dominating the world of Web3.

Anyone can join the hackathon without any prior knowledge about Web3 and can learn, create and get rewarded without writing a single line of code!

Yes, you read it right. No need of any coding skill!

Section 3

Contribute to Open Source

Are you interested in open source contributions but still without any technical skill? You're at the right place. And at the same time you even get rewarded for your contributions.

Open web is looking for open source contributors who have skills like content writing, designing, event planning etc.

Take part in building a free, open and easily accessible internet!

Section 4

What from Codeless Conduct?

Learn about Web3

You can learn in depth about Web3 and its technologies from the Codeless Conduct event.

Meet Web3 Community

You can meet a lot of mentors, contributors and developers who work behind the scenes in building different Web3 platforms, tools etc.

Get rewarded by Contributing

Participate in different bounty programs that are held in the event days and get rewarded with crypto!
